Egret West lead Kent town redevelopment

A team led by Studio Egret West has won the project to mastermind the £110million town centre redevelopment of Sittingbourne, Kent.

Swale Borough Council chose The Spirit of Sittingbourne consortium, which includes developer Cathedral Group and property consultants Essential Land, ahead of bids by Spenhill and St James's Investments.

David West, founding partner of Studio Egret West said:

'We hope the project becomes a wonderful example of how to retrofit a town centre. We will pragmatically and creatively work within council ownerships, to deliver exciting new uses and the comprehensive transformation of the public realm.' Richard Waite
